Librarian receives state award

NEWTON—Diane Jennings of Catawba County Library System was recently lauded for promotional work for the countywide BIG Read.

The presentation was made during the 57th biennial state conference of the N.C. Library Association in Hickory. State librarian Mary Boone presented the plaque for Best of Show-First Prize in Bibliographies/Booklists. Jennings designed a brochure to help patrons find books similar to the 2007 BIG Read selection, The Color of Water.

Jennings' entry was judged on content, originality, design, format and effectiveness.

Jennings is based at the St. Stephens Branch where she serves as reference librarian. She holds two masters degrees including one in library science, and has worked in libraries in Great Britain as well as the United States.

Other locations of Catawba County Library System include the Main Library in Newton as well as branches in Claremont, Conover, Maiden, Sherrills Ford and Southwest.
